Three Principles of Sex: Tying It All Together

I) Sex is the assignment or classification of people based on physical characteristics.

II) Accurate assignment of an individual to a sex must be based on several overlapping continuums rather than binary categories.

III) An individual's location on these continuums may not be constant, thus one person may have multiple sexes.

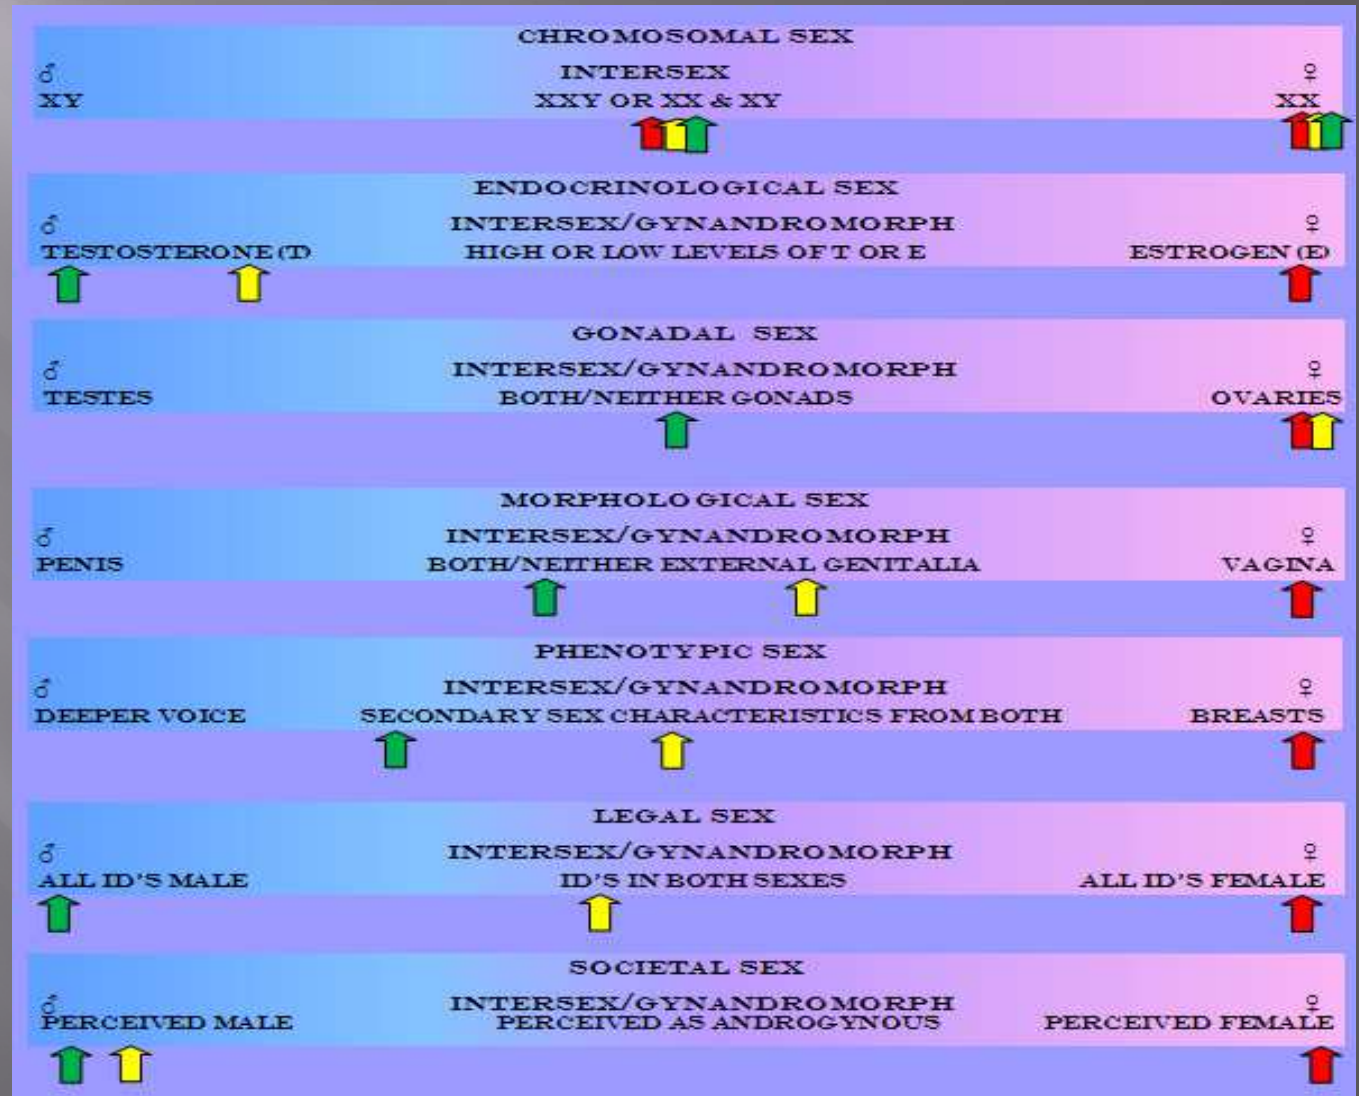

An Example of a Non-Binary Sexed Individual

↑ Represents his assigned sex.

↑ Represents his current sex.

↑ Represents his sex identity.
